Grow Your Garden with the Clearwater Seed Library

The Clearwater Public Library System makes it easy to start a garden with its free Seed Library, available at Countryside Library and East Community Library. Library cardholders can take home a variety of seasonal vegetable, fruit, herb and flower seeds at no cost.

Patrons may check out up to three seed packets at a time and up to nine each month. Seed packets are available on a first-come, first-served basis, have no due date and do not need to be returned. The program supports home gardening, encourages plant biodiversity and advances the city's sustainability mission.

To see currently available seed varieties or learn more about the Seed Library, visit the Clearwater Public Library System website.

September is Library Card Sign-up Month

September is Library Card Sign-up Month, making it the perfect time to discover everything a Clearwater Public Library card has to offer. More than just access to books and eBooks, a library card opens the door to museum passes, Wi-Fi hotspots, tools from the Thingamabrary, seeds from the Seed Library and a wide range of free programs and digital resources for all ages.

Whether you're looking to learn a new skill, tackle a home project, explore local attractions or simply find your next great read, your library card is the key to learning, creativity and connection.

If you don't already have a library card, stop by any Clearwater Public Library branch during September to sign up. It's free for Clearwater and most Pinellas County residents and provides access to thousands of resources, services and experiences throughout the year.
